He is a general favorite at the club, and his lectures are among the most important features of the season there. The tea tables were decorated in daffodits and tulps, and the house committee did the honors for the afternoon.

No Law Prohibiting Individuals Holding Stock in Two Distinct Corporations.

CASE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

One of Steps in Efforts to Break Up Alleged Monopoly in Anthracite Coal Trade.

Trenton, N. J., April 7.—The United States Circuit Court filed an opinion here to-day dismissing the suit of the United States government against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company and the Delaware Lackawanna and Western Coal Company for alleged violation of the commodities chause, and the Sherman antitrust law. The court holds that there is no United States law or decision prohibiting the same set of Individuals holding stock in two distinct corporations, even though they may be engaged in kindred pushess.

The decision was handed down here by Judges Gray, Buffington and Mc-Pherson, of the Third Judicial Circuit. The action was brought in the Federal Court here, but through a certificate of expedition nied by Attorney-General McReynolds, was heard by the judges of the Court of Appeals at Philadelphia in January.

The case is considered of the high-Trenton, N. J., April 7 .- The United of the Court of Appeals at Philadeiphia in January.

The case is considered of the highest importance by the government, as it is one of the steps planned by the Department of Justice in its efforts to break up what it alleges to be a monopoly of the anthracite coal trade.

The case, which was brought under the Sherman antitrust law and the commodities clause of the Hepburn railroad law, in all probability will go direct to the Supreme Court of the United States.

A somewhat similar suit recently was instituted against the Lehigh Valley Railorad and its subsidiaries in the Federal court in New York, and another government action against the Reading to separate it from the Jersey Central Railroad and other interests in the United States court in Philadelphia.

To-day's decision is the second this

Central Railroad and other interests in the United States court in Philadelphia.

To-day's decision is the second this court has handed down in a commodities clause case. The first case involved all the anthracite roads, and reached the Supreme Court, which decided that the commodities clause was constitutional, but that a railroad might own stock in a bonafide corporation which owns the commodity the railroad is transporting.

After the Supreme Court decision, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company declared an extra dividend of 50 per cent, and the stockholders were given the option to use half of the dividend to purchase stock of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company, which was organized to take over the marketing of the railroad's coal.

The railroad made a contract to sell its coal to the new coal company on a basis of 65 per cent of the average price received for anthracite at New York Tidewater. Under this contract the railroad, which continues to mine the coal from the land it owns, sells it at the mine to the coal company, and the railroad transports it for the coal corporation.

The government attacked this arrangement as a mere lawyer's device, cleaking old facts under new fictions; that it was a "mere subterfuge and fraud under the law and the public" and that "each corporation is, in fact, the same group or body of actual persons working to the same end under different names."

All indications point to a large crowd for the annual excursion to Williamsburg, under the direction and patronage of the Peterkin Guild of St. James Episcopai Church. The outing this year will be held on Easter Monday, and a number of interesting parties have already been arranged for the event. The committee in charge of the affair has recently received word that there will be no lunch served in the Bruton Parish House, as is usually the custom for this outing, and which was announced some time ago. The members of the Bruton Parish have found it impossible to complete arrangements for a luncheon there this year.
